Sunday School News

From the Principal

Dear Parents, Staff, Students and Parishioners,

Advent marks the beginning of the Church’s new year and commences this weekend. It is the season of waiting and preparation for the coming of Christ. The word ‘advent’ means ‘coming’. One of the symbols of Christmas is the Advent wreath. Lighting the candles on the wreath symbolises the coming of light (Jesus) into the world. The first candle (violet) represents hope, the second (violet) represents peace, the third (rose) represents joy, and the fourth (violet) represents love. The central white candle is lit on Christmas Day and represents Christ.

The Advent wreath is a reminder of how much we want hope, peace, joy and love at St Joseph’s College and in the wider community.

Our Year Six Graduation Mass was celebrated today and reflected the joy that the graduation students and their families have contributed to our community. It was also an opportunity to ask for a special blessing on the students as they move to Middle School, and to the adventures ahead. Mrs Palfrey did a wonderful job of preparing this liturgy. Following the Mass there was a beautiful morning tea for the students and their families to highlight the specialness of this occasion. There was an outstanding turn-out of parents, family and friends at this event.

Thank you one and all for coming!

Our Junior School students were extremely excited yesterday afternoon when they were announced the winners of the Inter-School Athletics Carnival. There were many

Prayer

Joy-filled Giver of Life
Let the anticipation of your birth
Fill us with overflowing joy.
May our excitement and anticipation
Be a sign to the world
That you are always near.
Amen.

students who gave their all in their events and every point assisted the final score. Congratulations to every student for the excellent sportsmanship on the day. Thank you to Mr Scarterfield for coordinating the carnival and the staff who assisted.

Congratulations to Father Randolf Subiaco, our College Chaplain, on his appointment as Parish Priest to Mount Barker/Denmark commencing late in January 2019. St Joseph’s College will have a new College Chaplain in 2019.

With the conclusion of the school year, a number of staff will be leaving St Joseph’s College. Some are retiring, others are seeking a life away from teaching, some are moving out of the area and for others their short-term contract has concluded. Some of these staff have been at Joseph’s College for many years and others have been here only a couple of terms. Regardless of the length of service, each has contributed to the holistic development of our students and the overall richness of our College in general. May the future direction of their lives be one of good health, well deserved happiness and overall satisfaction for a job well done.

Farewell:

Junior School: Mrs Lock, Mr Scarterfield and Mr Findlay.

Secondary School: Ms Alderman (Leave), Mr Hanna, Ms van Hulssen, Mrs McCormack, Mr Benari (Leave), Mr Stone, Mr Angeles, Mrs Smith and Mrs Jendrzejczak.

Other: Father Randolf Subiaco, Mrs Cameron, Mrs Hyde and Mrs Limondin.

The following staff will be returning from leave in 2019:

Mr Morcom, Mr Palmer, Mrs Palmer and Mrs Boston.

On behalf of our school and staff I warmly invite all parents to attend an end of year morning tea on Friday 7 December. If you have contributed to the school in any way this year, big or small, in or out of the classroom, please come along as we say ‘Thanks’ for making St Joseph’s College an amazing community in 2018.

The details are:

- Thanksgiving Mass at 9.00 am in Holy Family Church
- Morning Tea in the Junior School Undercover Area at 10.00 am
- ‘Hey, Hey It’s the Last Day’ at 10.30 am in the Junior School Undercover Area

If you planning to attend this event, please RSVP the College Office.

Next Friday 7 December (final day of term) there will be a communal barbecue for all students from Kindergarten to Year Ten. Each student will receive a sausage sizzle and an ice cream. There will be no charge as the barbecue is to thank the students for their hard work and enthusiasm throughout the year. If a student doesn’t eat meat, they can bring lunch from home as normal or please ring the College Office, so an alternative meal can be organised.

The students of St Joseph’s College have many talents and it is always encouraging to discover students taking on new opportunities when these situations arise. Recently Titan Hawkins-Puls travelled to Singapore to play soccer and had such an amazing experience.

St Joseph’s College Newsletter
The team only missed out by one goal of getting into final – well done Titan!

Over the coming holidays Olivia Finn and Grace Larham, both Year Nine students, will voyage on the Leeuwin Sailing ship between Albany and Perth; a great experience awaits both these students! Sebastian Commons, a Year Ten student, will be attending Notre Dame University in Fremantle during January to complete a Cultural DeCoding Programme. With a mixture of art, archaeology, history, philosophy, theology, this experience will intellectually challenge and enrich Sebastien and prepare him for further study.

Below are several important dates for the 2019 school year:

- Monday 21 January: The College Office opens
- Thursday 31 January: Teaching staff return
- Monday 4 February: Pre-Primary to Year Twelve students commence
- Tuesday 5 February: Kindergarten students start
- Thursday 7 February: Three-Year-Old students commence

Enclosed with this Newsletter is a letter from the Bishop explaining about the security of school assets in the light of legislation passed earlier this year related to compensation of survivors of abuse. Please take the time to read this document.

All parents are asked to assist in ensuring the safety of members of the St Joseph’s community in the school carpark and on the surrounding roads. To assist with traffic flow, drivers entering the school carpark must travel slowly and if waiting for children must use a permanent parking bay. The drop off bays are only for parents who remain in their car and whose child is already waiting on the footpath to be collected. If your child is not present, then you must drive on to allow others access. Stopping your car anywhere in the carpark that is not a designated parking space to collect children is extremely unsafe and is not to occur under any circumstance. If asked by a staff member to move their car, all parents will be polite and follow the given instruction. The College also expects all drivers to be courteous to each other. All parents and students MUST use the cross walk. DO NOT cross to or from the car park at any other point.
Enclosed with today’s Newsletter is our overview Calendar for 2019 which highlights the dates for each term, Student Free Days, school holidays and public holidays. Please keep this calendar in a prominent place ready for next year.

Enrolment enquires and application forms continue to be received by the College which is particularly heartening and several classes are close to have a waiting list as I seek to keep their size limited. There are some vacancies across several year groups so if you know of families contemplating sending their child(ren) to St Joseph’s College please encourage them to lodge an application form ASAP.

There are so many ‘good things’ happening in our school due to the efforts of so many people; seek to be one of those people in the coming week!

Junior School News

Transition Day for 2019.
Last Friday, the Junior school classes all moved up a year level to have the opportunity to experience what it will be like in their class in 2019. The children were in transition after roll call until recess time. Although there were some nerves, there was also excitement about what is to come, as they now get ready to say goodbye to their current teachers and move up to the next grade and next chapter in their school life. Some classes had the extra excitement of meeting new students who will join us next year and the St Joseph’s College students made them feel very welcome by showing them around and watching out for their new classmates.

For the Year Sixes, this means leaving Junior School, though most are keen to get up to the high school and start in a very different environment altogether. They had a great time on the scavenger hunt, the highlight of which was being with Mr Crowe in the science lab making teabag rockets.

All in all a great morning was had by teachers and students alike.

2018 Junior School Inter-House Athletics Carnival

Congratulations McCormack!!!

The 2018 Inter-House Athletics Carnival was held last Friday November 16th in near perfect conditions for the entirety of the day. It was fantastic to see all students either participating, assisting, or cheering on their fellow House mates at each field event throughout the morning. The afternoon saw the completion of the track events with McCormack taking home the spoils.

Thank you to all parents and helpers that assisted at the carnival, your help was very much appreciated.

Summer Reading Competition
Starts Tomorrow!
The students in Year Three to Six participate in the Accelerated Reader programme which assists students to develop their reading comprehension skills.

For the 2018 Summer Holiday, we have been invited to participate in the MyON Summer Reading challenge. This challenge allows access to over 6 000 online books that can be accessed by your child (which I’m sure will help if you are planning any long distance travelling during these holidays). Not only will your child continue to develop good reading habits, there are also prizes to be won for the school that clocks up the greatest number of hours read by their students.

Under the Microscope: ‘Earthquakes, Mars Landing and Seismometers’

St Joseph’s College is one of only forty eight schools in Australia creating the Australian Seismometers in Schools Network (ASSN). The ASSN records and supplies earthquake data to various scientific research organisations.

Dr Michelle Salmon, who designed, implemented and manages the ASSN visited the College this week, returning after five years when she initially installed the seismometer.

Dr Salmon is based at the Australian National University (ANU) in Canberra.

Dr Salmon spoke to the secondary students about seismology, the recent Lake Muir Earthquakes and the uses of the data obtained by the ASSN. Her visit also coincided with the landing of the space probe ‘Insight’ that will install a seismometer on Mars to investigate possible plate tectonic activity. This was also explored.

In her visit, Dr Salmon conducted an in-service course for science staff and upgraded the software on the College’s seismometer.

The College thanks Dr Michelle Salmon for visiting the College and for working with both the staff and students. Dr Salmon’s visit also provided Sebastian Commons, a Year Ten student, an opportunity to interview her and write another great article for this week’s edition of the Great Southern Weekender.

Dedicated St Joseph’s College Athletes Represent Albany at the State Championships

Four St Joseph’s College girls, Mia Baker, Tatum Whalley, Michaela Buck and Angel Ang, have been selected to play for the Albany under 11s in the State Championships in Perth next weekend. It’s a huge honour in a strong competition. Only the best in the state qualify to play. Raiders coach, Rob Whalley, said ‘They are the heart of the team and very strong players. They practice or play four or more times a week and are great mates on and off the court!’

Congratulations girls!
Dear Parents

People have been asking me about possible implications for parishes and Catholic schools of legislation passed earlier this year related to payments to survivors of abuse. I have tried to answer their questions in a Pastoral Letter entitled ‘Who Owns What in the Bunbury Diocese?’ This Letter can be found on the bunburycatholic.org.au website. What follows here is a short summary.

Works of the Catholic Church

Everyone knows that the Catholic Church in Australia comprises parishes, charitable and educational organisations and many other communities of self-giving people, priests and religious. They serve the young and old; the sick and poor; the disadvantaged; indigenous Australians; the homeless, families in need and many others.

Over time, assets have been bought or donated for these purposes. They include churches, hospitals, schools, facilities for the aged and parish buildings. To understand who owns what, it is essential to understand the basic structure of the Catholic Church.

The basic structure of the Catholic Church

When instituting the Church, Jesus Christ, the Son of God and Son of man, instituted the offices of Peter and the Apostles, their successors today being the Pope and the Bishops. Peter’s office was the rock ‘upon which I will build my Church’. This basic structure has remained ever since.

Peter and the Apostles travelled the world of the time, establishing autonomous local ‘churches’. These came to be called dioceses. They were bound together by a shared Catholic faith and acceptance of the unique authority of Peter and his successors.

Each Diocese in the world today remains autonomous from others, including the Diocese of Rome. In addition, parish communities and communities of religious Priests, Sisters and Brothers, and charitable organisations developed over time.

Sometimes people speak of the ‘wealth’ of the Church without realising that assets for the many Church works across Australia alone are owned by 28 geographical and 8 non-geographical dioceses; more than 1400 parish communities; and more than 100 religious institutes and countless other Catholic organisations.

Nor is the Church anything like a multinational organisation. Its members are bound together by a shared faith, as has been the case for two thousand years.

The Bunbury Diocese

The Bunbury Diocese was established in 1954. Most parish communities, the life blood for Catholic charitable works across the south of our State, existed before the Diocese.

Parishes and their schools

Parish assets are the result of efforts of local communities of priests and parishioners acquiring land and building churches, schools, presbyteries and other facilities. Many of you will recall local fundraising efforts, as well as such activities as bazaars, cake stalls, quiz nights and various farm schemes.

Parishioners and Catholic school parents also volunteered skills, time and machinery to help with building, maintaining and landscaping Catholic schools. Parish and Catholic school communities continue today because parishioners and parents continue to contribute financially. They make themselves available too for busy bees and other projects.

Church law applies the Ten Commandments and the teachings of Christ to the life of the Church. It recognises, therefore, that Church assets are owned by those who paid for them. Parishes, therefore, are not owned by a Diocese (though the Bishop must supervise the proper stewardship of parish assets).

What assets belong to the Bunbury Diocese: a charity?

The Bunbury Diocese was established for pastoral reasons, and has always been one of the least resourced in Australia. It is recognised legally as a charity by the Australian Charities and Not for Profit Commission.

Its basic assets are for charitable and administrative purposes, and to provide for retired priests. These have been purchased by the Diocese itself or donated to it.

Also, when the Diocese was established, the parish church in Bunbury was designated the Cathedral — the church in which the Bishops’ Chair (or cathedra) was placed. The Diocese does not own the Cathedral church and, should unforeseen circumstances arise, the centre of the Diocese could move elsewhere. Then another church would become the Cathedral and the present Cathedral would revert back to being the Bunbury parish church.

The Bishop as a corporation sole

In 1911, to save the State government from having to deal with multiple Catholic communities, the Western Australian Parliament legislated that the Office of Bishop of Perth become a ‘corporation sole’ for all assets of Catholic bodies. This gave the Bishop legal ownership of them all. However, asset ownership has two parts in law. One is legal ownership, the other is beneficial ownership. The Bishop, therefore, was legal owner of Church body assets, but not the beneficial owner. Hence, he could not claim any financial or other benefit from assets not actually paid for by the Diocese itself.

In 1955, the Parliament established the Office of Bishop of Bunbury as a corporation sole for all Catholic Church assets in the new Bunbury Diocese. While having legal ownership, he could not take control of any parish or other asset of which he is not the beneficial owner.

How do the new laws affect assets in the Bunbury Diocese?
The new laws, passed earlier this year, are discussed more fully in the Pastoral Letter. Here follow a few brief points.

The National Redress Scheme
This scheme was legislated by the Commonwealth Parliament. It makes it possible for survivors of abuse to seek reparation for up to $150,000. It saves survivors from lengthy Court proceedings and legal costs.

With other Australian Catholic Dioceses, the Bunbury Diocese is committed to joining this voluntary scheme when the State Parliament has passed legislation permitting it to do so. In the meantime, preparatory work is being completed.

The Civil Liability Act
This legislation, passed by the State Parliament, makes it possible for survivors of abuse to seek Court awarded compensation against office holders, such as the Bishop of Bunbury, for proven negligence by their predecessors. Importantly, it also permits, but does not force, the office holder to confiscate properties he or she owns legally, but not beneficially, to pay Court awarded damages.

The Attorney General, Mr John Quigley, explained to the Parliament why the legislation is permissory:

The assets of many churches and other religious organisations are held in trusts. This is not in order to hide assets; it is to ensure that the assets are available for use by the parishioners and their families, and the people these institutions serve.

In small regional towns and elsewhere, these institutions are a very important part of the social infrastructure and a very important source of support for families in the community.

We did not want to open a pathway whereby a plaintiff could instruct a sheriff to auction off the local Catholic primary school and deny an educational facility to children who attend that school....

It is not the intention of the legislation, therefore, to penalise parish and Catholic school communities today for the crimes committed by a few in the past. Nor should they be penalised.

Morally speaking, no Bishop can confiscate any asset of which he is not the beneficial owner because it was paid for by others. As for any other Christian, to confiscate such an asset would be a violation of the Seventh Commandment, and so would be a violation of God’s law.

And, for any human being, such a confiscation would be a violation of natural justice.

Any possible Court awarded costs against the Bishop of Bunbury, therefore, will be the responsibility of the Diocese of Bunbury.

A problem
The new legislation, being retrospective, breaks new legal ground. It poses challenges for all not-for-profit organisations because of their limited assets. Like dioceses, most of these are autonomous and have no higher body to call on for assistance.

Legal damages awarded against companies penalise shareholders, reducing their financial return. Damages against not-for-profit charities, such as the Bunbury Diocese, penalise those whose needs they serve.

Conclusion
The priority of the Church will always be to help survivors heal. Its Towards Healing programme will continue. However, I urge all parishioners and Catholic school parents to study the full Pastoral Letter on the diocesan website. All need to be informed about the important legal matters it discusses.

God bless you all
